

Botanical Name: Koelreuteria paniculata

Common Name: Goldenrain Tree

Type of Plant: dicot: tree Character deciduous

Habit of Growth:

Overall Shape rounded, open-branched tree with a gawky, irregular shape without careful pruning

Height 20-35' Spread 10-40' Growth Rate moderate

Environment:

Exposure outdoors full sun to partial shade

Soil tolerates most any soil--including alkaline

Hardiness hardy (zones 2-21); prefers cold-winter areas

Morphology:

Leaves pinnately compound to 12-18" long; leaflets ovate to oblong, irregularly crenate to serrate

Flowers summer-panicles of small yellow flowers 14-18" long

Fruit round, tan papery capsules--persist 2-3 months

Propagation: seed

Usage: good street, lawn or shade tree in difficult climates and soils--good patio tree with careful pruning

Landscape Care:

Watering prefers regular watering when young; tolerates drought when established

Fertilizing none after established

Pruning thin, head back frequently when young to encourage canopy

Pests/Diseases no major pests

Special Conditions

Origin: Japan, Korea Family: Sapindaceae